Thousands Idle Miners in U.S. Again Refuse Continue Work

Relative to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943, by British United Press PITTSBURGH, June 1.—Production of coal vital to the war effort came to a halt today for the second time in 31 days when virtually all of America's 530,000 soft and hard coal miners remained away from the pits in conformity with the union's policy of "no contract, no work."

Even before the expiration last night of the three-year-old contract with John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, when the American government seized the mines, scattered walkouts took place, mostly in the soft coal fields of Kentucky.

The work stoppage became general today when the morning shift in all the largest coal producing centers ignored whistles at the shafts and remained at home, apparently unimpressed by the fact that they now were striking against their government and faced the possibility of military action to reopen the pits.

W. VIRGINIA HARD HIT In West Virginia, largest soft coal producing state, 130,000 miners due to the midnight and morning shifts did not report and no major operations in the state reported men on the job. Operators reported that the work stoppage to the state's 600 coal mines will cause a daily loss of production of 800,000 tons.

The American flag flew over the shafts in the western Pennsylvania bituminous fields, where much of the coal is used in the production of 800,000 tons.

Mussolini "Fires" Italian Army Chief

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Gen. Mario Roatta, chief-of-staff of the Italian army, was relieved of his post today and appointed commander of an army group in the Balkans, according to a Rome dispatch received by the Associated Press.

Gen. Mario Roatta, chief-of-staff from March 3, 1941, until he was relieved by Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio on Jan. 10, 1942, was again named chief-of-staff of the Italian army, the dispatch said.

Gen. Alfredo Guzzoni was appointed commander of another army group on May 30, the Berlin radio said.

We Can Win This War

By W. F. Kerman (Colonel, U.S. Army)

Author of "DEFENCE WILL NOT WIN THE WAR"

INSTALLMENT III. Upsetting the Enemy's Equilibrium

The strategy which must be used to overcome our modern enemies, the tactics which must be employed to smash these Nazi Hittites big and thigh, will not consist in fighting a global war on five continents, but in winning a very carefully circumscribed local combat, concentrating every foot of energy at our command at one selected spot in one selected country.

Having done this once, having driven one spearhead deep in the enemy's side, we shall make our forces again for another supreme effort, and we shall continue this, driving harpoon after harpoon into the enemy until the war is won, and our Goliath is prostrate under our heel.

This may seem a difficult task to military men trained in the strategy of limited objectives, to sea-power experts in whom the failure of one island results in a summum bonum of naval operations. It will be held as a madness by the air pundits who are still hypnotized by the fascinating thought of destroying Germany with bombs, but it is one thing in its favor: it is the only way the can ever be won.

Reasons inherent in the strength of materials, the location of strategic metals, the position of industrial strength of Hitler-

Chinese troops captured a tremendous quantity of war supplies.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943, by British United Press CHUNGKING, June 1.—Chinese troops hammering five trapped Japanese divisions in western Hupeh province "completely annihilated" the enemy's 116th Regiment and other units covering the retreat of the Japanese 13th Division, a communique said today.

The 116th Regiment (about 3,000 men) and an engineering unit were covering the retreat of enemy forces that had been stalling into the outer defenses of Chungking until a general Chinese counter-attack routed them and trapped perhaps 75,000 men.

"On the south shore of the Yangtze, in western Hupeh, the enemy's 116th Regiment covering the retreat of the Japanese 13th Division, was completely annihilated by our troops at Ichang, six miles east of Yangtze, and completely annihilated," the communique said.

"Chinese troops captured a tremendous quantity of war supplies," the communique said.

PINE AIR SUPPORT Actual support which began in destruction of at least 23 and possibly 31 enemy planes yesterday at Ichang aided Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's army in throwing back the deepest forward penetration ever made by Japanese armies.

Chinese communique said the counter-attack which began yesterday at Suoyuan, 40 miles southwest of Ichang, turned into a broad, co-ordinated offensive on all fronts by Sunday.

Advancing past Suoyuan to Ichang, the Chinese troops routed the five Japanese divisions, then into a large circle, retook four villages just over the river from Ichang and blocked a heading retreat by the Japanese 2nd and 13th Divisions.

"Chinese forces continued mopping up operations as the enemy was still surrounded," a communique said.

104 Ships Anchored at Gibraltar

By ROBERT RICHARDS

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, June 1.—The largest concentration of Allied shipping at Gibraltar since the start of the war—104 transports, tankers and supply ships—was reported to be anchored today at the British overseas base.

The bulk of the huge fleet was transports and tankers which arrived at Gibraltar yesterday, a dispatch from the British border town of La Linea said.

Taking cognizance of growing Allied strength in the Mediterranean theatre, the Rome radio said it is unlikely that the Axis will attempt to take their cue from the way British "beaten and abandoned" fleet with invasion and "aid" called in 1942 and responsible Italian spokesman acknowledged by implication that several hundred thousand Allied troops could open a second front successfully in June.

Nazis Proclaim "State of Emergency" in Norway

By JOHN A. PARRIS

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, June 1.—German authorities have proclaimed a "conditional state of emergency" in coastal areas of Norway, and have increased the occupation army to 200,000 men, a Norwegian government spokesman reported today.

New clashes between patriots and quelling storm troops have brought about the emergency measures which include a round-up of men of military age in an apparent effort to weaken the underground organization so it can not aid an Allied invasion. It was said. Battles between patriots and storm troops were reported at Trondheim, Narvik and Vangsnes. The Nazis were said to have 30 air bases.

In "Saboteur" Case Charge of "Public Mischief" Laid Against Section Man in Ontario

PORT WILLIAM, June 1.—(CP)—Ontario provincial police today laid a charge of "public mischief" against 65-year-old Andrew Koliuk, who on Sunday reported he had been fired from an anti-aircraft section while attempting to repair a damaged section of the C.P.R. main line track near the lakehead.

Koliuk, for 21 years section-man in the Pavlov area, had claimed saboteurs were responsible for the tampering. Provincial police in announcing the surprise development in the case said the charge would be read to Koliuk at a special court sitting in the hospital ward where the accused yesterday afternoon from whom witnesses in his left shoulder and arm.

Social Credit Party Reaffirms Resolve To Continue Policies

A caucus of Social Credit party members Monday night issued a statement of policy, reaffirming the party's resolve to "continue with renewed vigor, the struggle to gain for the people more effective control of their credit resources and freedom from exploitation by vested interests, monopolies and combines."

The statement, issued following a day-long party meeting, at which Hon. Ernest Manning was chosen as new leader and subsequently sworn in as premier of the province, also resolved to continue to strive for the establishment of a functioning democracy, both political and economic.

The statement also reaffirmed the party's determination to continue development of the Social Credit interim program; reaffirmed loyalty and adherence to Social Pledge; and pledged to continue "the great crusade for social justice initiated and carried forward by our late beloved leader, with such inspiring devotion, courage and faith, and for which, in the end, he gave his life."

The Bulletin's Sports Editor

The Senior Baseball season can hardly be called even a lousy affair at this stage, the four teams having played only two games each and it is accordingly no yardstick as yet with which to accurately measure the respective merits of the members of the various clubs.

At the best only trends can be detected and even these cannot be depended upon to continue, for the boys can hardly be said to have warmed up to the job, having had little opportunity to consistently show either batting or fielding abilities.

However, certain players do appear to be pushing their way to the front and, oddly enough, no team has any preponderant edge in that regard, as may be gleaned from casual glance at unofficial figures to date.

GAUF BATTING 832
In batting Ed. Gauf of the Dodgers, St. John Guzikowski, U.S. Army, Len Cobb of Hornets and Art (Suede) Warhime. Arrows are the leaders, having made three hits or better so far.

Gauf, it will be recalled, hit safely his first five straight outs and was thrown out at first on the sixth, to give him an average of .832. Guzikowski has four hits out of eight trips to the plate for .500. While Cobb has been in the times and connected on three occasions for a .300 figure also. Warhime's three for eight give him an average of .375.

So far 15 players have a pair of hits to their credit and Army, Arrows and Dodgers each have four of them and Hornets three. These with their respective averages are as follows:

Army—Capt. Frank Wrigglesworth, .400; C. F. (Skip) Phillips, .375.

Race Expected To Be Close

O'Neill Says Lucky Club Will Cop American Pennant

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers crystallizes the American League pennant race in this fashion: "The club that can step out and knock off the club which knock each other off." The pennant race is that close, he explains.

O'Neill, who might be called the "laughing boy" of baseball, makes this prediction after having tangled with all clubs in the circuit.

What about those Yanks? O'Neill shifted in his hotel lobby chair and admitted, "I don't know much about them—except that they don't seem to be as strong as usual. However, I must raise them well up on my strongest opposition, the Yankees, Cleveland, Washington and St. Louis."

O'Neill, who managed Cleveland for part of the '35 season, and in '36 and '37, and then was banished to the minors, admits Detroit might win the pennant, although he is not predicting it.

O'Neill is doubly pleased because he is riding herd on one of the outstanding rookies of the season—outfielder Dick Wakefield.

O'Neill almost bends a knee when he talks of Wakefield. He says this Wakefield is the greatest all-around young player I ever coached. And I've handled some good ones as they were coming up—like Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack, Gerald Walker, etc."

Steve says Wakefield beats anything he ever saw because he has "balance of power," he is confident, he can hit, and he is as good as dead. And I've handled some good ones as they were coming up—like Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack, Gerald Walker, etc."

O'Neill said the toughest clubs in the circuit were the Indians, Senators and Browns—aside from the Yankees. He said the Tigers had to match their strike because they had obtained no help from the rest of their pitching—just Rudy York, for example, off form.

But he promised that with Wakefield and the rest of the team, they could start a winning streak—might even win the pennant.

Fewer Tracks After War

More Consideration to Be Given Small British Wagerer

By FOSTER BARCLAY
LONDON, June 1.—(AP)—The little "batters," those optimistic fellows who have a "sure thing" in every race, but seldom a winner, are due for a break when post-war reconstruction starts and horse-racing in Britain hits the constrictor. There will be fewer tracks, but they will be better equipped to accommodate the general public.

The Jockey Club, that august body of stewards which rules the nation's flat-racing with a heavy, right-hand lead, at last have realized the people who risk their shillings and pence to see horse-racing a big business.

At a sign of the times, racing will have to make a fresh start after the war and a lot of money will be needed. It's the little fellow who goes to pay in the long run to the Jockey Club has taken steps to see that he gets some structure for a sign of the times.

Despite impressive appearance and pretentious name, Figher, this Hun-Londoner, is an ideal nut. Figher is three years old, weighs 125 pounds in of fine fluffy hair. He is being where by pretty mistress, Julia Carter of Hollywood.

Brooklyn Dodgers Racine First Place in National

ST. LOUIS, June 1.—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers still lead the National League—by virtue of a 1-0 decision in a stirring nightcap of a doubleheader against St. Louis yesterday, after the Cardinals had smothered the eastern club 7-0 on Mott Cooper's one-hit pitching in the opener before 25,864, largest crowd of the season in Sportsman's Park.

Pat Freddy Fitzsimmons received credit for the Brooklyn triumph although rookie Harry Brecheen of St. Louis allowed only four hits.

Walker opened the Dodgers' productive eighth with a double, pinch hit for a wild pitch and charged home on Moore's pinch sacrifice, leading the throw.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Tonight at Tampa, Fla., Tony Galento gets the big test of his ability to carry on in current pugilism. Galento is scheduled to encounter Hersie Kate of Brooklyn in a 10-round bout at Tampa.

Knowing Galento and Kate, we must say the managers of Galento have selected one of the worst opponents possible for purposes of making Galento look good.

Kate is only 34 years old. He is an experienced, fast-stepping left who has been fighting professionally for eight years. He never weighed more than 135—the light heavyweight limit. But he has fought plenty of heavyweights.

GREAT PUNCH
SO much fun has been made of Galento that he should say—put—and scree, but we do not. We recall that Galento was one of the greatest punchers in the world. It was Galento who in 1930 had Joe Louis out on his feet in the first round and on the floor in the third round. Louis came on in the fourth round and "modered" two-ton Tony.

But Galento, who with Louis, provided boxing with one of its most tumultuous moments, always was a deadly puncher when he landed. Fat Tony surprisingly was the most gifted bag puncher of any heavy who ever came up to the pear-shaped bag. Moreover, he had the unusual strong "knock-out-dead" knuckle.

In other words, Galento—losing about 260 pounds—could explode with the weight into a punch, because of his snapping forearms and "knock-out-dead" knuckle.

Dizzy Reports Three Offers to Play Baseball
LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 1.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, for whom the Chicago Cubs once shelled out $100,000 and three players, says he's had offers from the Browns, the Red Sox and the Athletics to return to major league baseball.

Dean, now a St. Louis radio announcer, pitched for the Lafayette team of the Indiana-Ohio league in the first four innings of an exhibition game Sunday night and helped them to a 4 to 1 victory over the Indianapolis Gold Medals.

"I like my radio work, but I never can tell what will happen," he said after the game, in which he pitched four innings.

Harmon Reported In North Africa
NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Ralph Harmon, NBC correspondent, reported Monday from a broadcast from Algiers that Lt. Thomas Harmon, former football star at the University of Michigan, has arrived in North Africa to become a fighter pilot. No further details were given.

Harmon, in April, was rescued after four days in a South American jungle after falling out of a bomber he was flying.

Salmonbellies, Famous Lacrosse Team, Disbands
TORONTO, June 1.—(CP)—Those strange noises are echoes of whistling and gushing of teeth on the Pas coast that New Westminster Salmonbellies have closed shop after some 50 years as Canada's leading lacrosse club.

A veteran lacrosse star, Rann Mathison, wrote in the Vancouver News-Courier that one New Westminster player was bedecked with black rope "and the burghers of the town stood in bedraggled groups talking with worried expressions."

Salmonbellies decided to drop out of senior lacrosse this year because most of the veteran players have retired, and those who would have replaced them were the armchair players. A 200-word editorial page article, the Vancouver Sun commented, "New Westminster without a lacrosse team! This certainly is bringing the war home."

Salmonbellies had a great record in Minqul cup play before 1910. In the 35 years since the Mann cup was presented, New Westminster won the title competition in 1910. Salmonbellies have been champions 11 times. They have been veteran champions on numerous other occasions, including last year, when they lost to Mimico-Brampton combines in the Dominion final.

Sports . . . Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—If you've been wondering what about the United States football season next fall, what do you suppose the colleagues have been doing? . . . Fordham already has had two games cancelled; at least two others are scheduled to be postponed. . . . Fordham already has had two games cancelled; at least two others are scheduled to be postponed. . . . Fordham already has had two games cancelled; at least two others are scheduled to be postponed.

A veteran lacrosse star, Rann Mathison, wrote in the Vancouver News-Courier that one New Westminster player was bedecked with black rope "and the burghers of the town stood in bedraggled groups talking with worried expressions."

Salmonbellies decided to drop out of senior lacrosse this year because most of the veteran players have retired, and those who would have replaced them were the armchair players. A 200-word editorial page article, the Vancouver Sun commented, "New Westminster without a lacrosse team! This certainly is bringing the war home."

Salmonbellies had a great record in Minqul cup play before 1910. In the 35 years since the Mann cup was presented, New Westminster won the title competition in 1910. Salmonbellies have been champions 11 times. They have been veteran champions on numerous other occasions, including last year, when they lost to Mimico-Brampton combines in the Dominion final.

Favorites Again Disappoint in Winnipeg Races

WINNIPEG, June 1.—(CP)—Favorites continued to take a back seat as the third day of the 18-day Winnipeg race meet ended Monday. During the first three days, the "Dark" horses stole the limelight.

Sunago, winner of the first race, returned the best straight price of the day, $14.00 for a $2 bet. Sunago, coupled with Miss Harman, who won the second race, made a Daily Double price read $15.50.

Only favorite to beat the field home was the fifth and feature race, the Speed Handicap, when Marching feet won the five-furlong dash with Jockey Bobby Summers up. (See Col. 2) and second race, $15.50.

Buras capped the seventh and returned $17.50 for $2. Buras and Lady Buras continued for first and second respectively to make the Quinte with $53.50.

Chip off the old block: Harry Markson, last thumper for Miss Jacobs, was discovered that one of the forebears of lightweight Bobby Kufus was Edmund Kufus, who fired the first shot on Fort Sumner in the American Civil War.

Phils Leading Attendance

Giants Suffering Through Not Hunting Player Replacements

NEW YORK, June 1.—Horace Stoneham and Leo Bondy, who run the New York Giants, are paying the price for sitting around and twiddling their thumbs last winter, when the other clubs were landing replacements.

Stoneham and Bondy appeared to have the thoughts of those who suspected there might not be any baseball. They're re-rented. The attitude seemed to be: "What's the use?"

They lost power in Johnny Mike. Harry Danning and Babe Young, yet did nothing until Ernie Lombardi was acquired.

Branch Rickey was trying to peddle Babe Dalgren all over the place, but the Giants weren't interested, although Mike was in A-1 Pittsburgh had Jimmy Wadell on the block. This pair, who made the Phillies' infield with Dalgren shifting to shortstop, would look mighty good alternating at first base for the Giants, who had to transfer Joe Oregano to the position.

Other clubs obtained help. The Giants did not because the front office wasn't alert.

There are many players in the minors right now who would help the Giants and other major league outfits. Maurice Van Roby, who the Pirates sent to Toronto; Rip Russell, whom the Cubs returned to Los Angeles; and Charley Gillbert, returned to Nashville by the same club, are three who come to mind.

The Phillies leading the National League in attendance is a striking example of how patrons will respond to an ownership that tries. Who thought they held live to see the day when police would order the gates shut for fear people would get hurt in the rush to see the Phillies? Yet that is precisely what happened when the annals. Phila's split a double-header with the Pirates before 37,176, the largest attendance in National League history in Philadelphia.

R.A.F. Batters Objectives in Low Countries

By FOSTER BARCLAY
LONDON, June 1.—(CP)—The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F., concluding their most dramatic month's operations of the war, swept the low countries and France yesterday with fighters and bombers.

Airports, communications, docks and factories were the targets at Zebruggen, Nieuport and Brugge in Belgium, Vlissingen in Holland and Caisn and Cherbourg in France. R.C.A.F. Spitfires shot down two Focke-Wulf 200s in a running battle with 30 enemy planes over Nieuport. The Spitfires were carrying a diversionary sweep while R.A.F. Ventura bombers smashed at Zebruggen.

An R.C.A.F. communiqué said one Canadian Spitfire was missing.

PROVIDE ESCORT

Canadian Spitfires also provided part of the fighter escort for United States medium bombers which attacked enemy targets at Flushing in Holland.

Explosions were seen yesterday along the French coast, indicating Allied planes were attacking German coastal defenses. Dense smoke was seen rising near Boulogne, where German GIs were held.

This is the area where the German have been reinforcing strong points.

What To

A breakfast tray for a guest is particularly useful in a house where there are children. It saves time and avoids downstairs work to take a tray up. At the same time you can write her letters, dress her hair, and stay in her room, away until lunch time. Particular care should be given in preparing the tray. It should be covered with a delicate white linen tray cover—and a glass and glassware you use to set up to present a cheery appearance. A guest would appreciate a morning paper or a newspaper.

All questions regarding diet will be answered promptly. Self-addressed, stamped, and return postage must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Write to: Dr. James H. McCoy Health Service, P.O. Box 1000, Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif. 90017.

It will be an exciting job, because it will be in many respects a race against the brief season of northern navigation, which is just a little over three months, to the further reaches of the Mackenzie

Then there are the two potential bottlenecks of the 16-mile portage around Police Road, between Fort Fitzgerald and Smith and the shallow waters and shifting sands in Great Slave Lake.

GUIDES TO ASSIST
Indian guides who have lived all of their lives along these northern rivers and lakes, will give their services to the men whose responsibility it will be to move the vital equipment and supplies to the north.

Legal Notices—
It is the entire project is military, it is under the direction of the United States Army Engineers, Northwest Division, commanded by Brigadier General James A. O'Connor, with headquarters at Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

A river expert with 22 years of experience on the Missouri and Mississippi, Charles "Chuck" Carignan, of Missoula, will be marine supervisor. He is also a river expert in addition to being a civil engineer with years of experience on river control projects in the States.

Mr. Carignan has as his chief advisor and right-hand man the veteran Northwest pilot and transportation director, A. M. "Matt" Barry, of Edmonton. Mr. Barry is probably best known in Western Canada as a noted bush pilot and as the famed McKee trophy, awarded annually for the outstanding aviation feat of the year in Canada.

For some years he has been in charge of the operations of the Northwest Transportation Co. Ltd., that freighted on the northern waterways system between Whitehorse and the Arctic.

EXPERTS FROM U.S.
Pilot, engine experts and deckhands, who have worked for years on the big U.S. rivers, will man the ultra-modern, all-steel, diesel-powered towboats, that will form the principle fleet operating beyond the Fort Smith portage.

The new boats will be the pride of northern navigation this summer. Built in the U.S. they were shipped to Whitehorse in sections and assembled there during the winter.

Each craft is powered by two diesel engines and also has a latest in river transportation power craft. Refrigeration plants are aboard to keep food fresh for the crews. They will have barges loaded with from 200 to 300 tons of freight.

In order to move these boats across the portage at Fort Smith, specially constructed trailers, with four caterpillar tractors, will be utilized.

There are two favorable and one unfavorable factor that will govern operations. One highly favorable is the fact that the portage is a down stream flow. The only drawback is the fact that the portage is only the easy part. The rest of the journey is the hard part.

RACE AGAINST TIME
Against these favorable factors the shortness of the season and the fact that the portage is a down stream flow. The only drawback is the fact that the portage is only the easy part. The rest of the journey is the hard part.

World News Highlights Presented in Picture Form

ATTU

Maps and pictures show terrain, harbors and village on Aleutian island where American forces have opened initial offensive to oust Japs from their North American footholds.

These are the mountainous, volcanic islands at the westernmost tip of the Aleutians which the Japs seized a year ago and where battle now rages. U.S. forces followed repeated bombing and warship attacks on Attu with troop landings, and Kiska, with its fine harbor, may also be attacked.

A touch of the old world in Attu village is this Russian Orthodox church, a reminder of the days when Russia owned the Aleutians. Before Japs invaded Attu, a few score Aleuts (Russian Eskimos) were its only inhabitants.

This is Chichagof Harbor, only previously charted bay on Attu Island and one of the points where Japs established a base. Village of Attu is seen at lower right.

Gallant General and Gracious Lady

Smiling Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery accepts a bouquet of thanks from the attractive daughter of a leading citizen of Sousse, Tunisia, after British Eighth Army liberated that city from Nazis.

U.S. Tank-Destroying Shells

It takes both hands and a bit of muscle to handle the shell used in Uncle Sam's new three-inch anti-tank gun, as seen at right above. At left, a soldier holds in one hand the shell of the regular 37-mm. anti-tank gun. In tests at Aberdeen, Md. Proving Grounds, the projectile for the new weapon smashed completely through armor plate against which German 88-mm. shells proved ineffective at the same range.

Their Escape From Tunisia Foiled

While Allied troops mopped up thousands of prisoners on Cape Bon after the Axis collapse in Tunisia, some troops made desperate efforts to escape by sea to the Italian island of Pantelleria. The three pictured above tried it in an inflated rubber dinghy—but like most of their comrades, were rounded up by the Royal Navy.

Catafighter in Africa

Poised for action on the prow of a merchant ship at a North African port is an R.A.F. Hurricane fighter used in convoy protection. As on the Arctic run to Murmansk, these planes are catapulted into the air to combat enemy planes or hunt submarines that crash-land on the sea when gas gives out. Ship picks up the pilot.

Boots! Boots! It's Not Kipling, It's Army Salvage Depot

"Keep your feet happy," says the sign on the wall. Privates A. Gaudet of P.E.I., and J. V. Murphy of Halifax, make old army boots like new.

Corporal J. Sarnar of Baie Verte, N.B., works in Army salvage depot repairing shoes with material supplied by Dept. Munitions and Supply.

Private E. V. Seston tests repaired boots by dipping them in a pail of water. They must be watertight before they go back to troops.

Canada's armed forces are putting their best foot forward, and that fact is shed in the best boot that money can buy. Men in the Munitions and Supply Department who buy the boots for the men and women in the services are responsible for the purchase of nearly 30 types of footwear, from a small 2½ shoes of AWI Sally Linette to a big size 15 for Private Sultcase Simpson. They let contracts to Indian tribes to make moccasins and to rubber goods factories for knee boots worn by the members of the forestry corps.

From coast to coast, more than 30 Canadian shoe and rubber factories are turning out first-class leather boots and shoes, rubber boots, overshoes and special footwear for the men and women in uniform. The industry employs over 15,000 people and production of all types of military footwear is now more than 100,000 pairs a week. Since the beginning of the war, about 10,000,000 pairs have been purchased. The boot repair department of the Army Salvage and Disposal Depot in each military district saves the department a huge sum of money every year. These departments turn out an average of 300 boots a day and have cut the use of boots per man from 3½ pairs a year ago to 2½ pairs now.

Shoes with good uppers, but with soles ruined, are softened by a special method which renews the leather and sent back to be rebuilt. A lot of boots were condemned before because the shops could not get them repaired in time, but Captain H. T. MacKenzie, of Bridgetown, N.B., in charge of the Disposal Depot in Military District No. 6, says repair production has been speeded and now there is no waste. The saving in this district through repairs has been between $125,000 and $150,000 a year.

The boot repair department is only part of this large establishment whose function is to save all the various trappings of war which in other days might have found their way to the junk pile. An average of 140,000 articles a month are taken to the Halifax plant and from these about 115,000 are repaired and put back into use immediately. It takes about 120 men and women to operate the depot; of these about 75 are civilians and the rest are army personnel. Each military district does work like this in a similar depot. Increases in the personnel of the three services mean corresponding increases in the size and number of orders for footwear. The various types purchased direct from the factories include regulation army boots, high leather boots, walking out dress shoes, canvas rest shoes, hip rubber boots for sailors, special boots for motorcyclists and members of the armored corps, high altitude boots for airmen, hospital slippers, and summer and winter shoes, rubbers and overshoes for the girls in uniform.

The Department of Munitions and Supply has also placed orders in Canada for other United Nations.

The quality of military shoes is indicated by their cost. A pair of regulation ankle militia boots, bought in tremendous bulk, at the lowest possible wholesale price, costs the government about $6.50. They would sell at $10 in retail stores. Sturdy high leather boots for para-troopers, which would make any backwoods hunter green with envy, cost as much as $8.50 a pair. Motorcyclist's shoes cost $9.25 a pair.

The very best upper and sole material is reserved for military requirements. Heel and counters are made of solid leather. Heavy linen thread is used throughout, and the manufacture of military footwear calls for the highest type of workmanship. An army man march on his stomach, but if it's feet hurt it won't go far!

Tide "Just Turned" Col. Ralston Warns Commons Allies "Not Out of Woods" Sees Need for Reserve Army

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston last night warned the House of Commons that "we are not out of the woods yet," and that there might yet be the "opportunity and the necessity" for the reserve army.

He said the reserve army would be called upon to play an increasingly important part, particularly in anti-aircraft work, and that it must be prepared to defend the shores of Canada.

The reserve army's role was discussed during consideration of the war appropriation for the current fiscal year in committee of the whole.

Col. Ralston told the house that efforts were being made to complete equipment of the reserve army with weapons and progress was being achieved.

DENIES OIL REPORT
In the course of the House of Commons debate on the defence budget, Col. Ralston denied the report that manufacture of Bren guns was being curtailed.

"We are still increasing the production of Bren guns and probably will be for some time," the minister said. He denied a report attributed to T. C. Douglas (C.C.F., Weyburn), that (Mr. Howe) had told an interviewer in Washington that munitions production in Canada had reached a point where restrictions of manufacture for allies manufacture could be relaxed.

Mr. Douglas quoted from a Washington story in the Winnipeg Free Press to the effect and it is sounded incorrect. Col. Ralston's statement that supplies available had not yet permitted full equipment of the reserve army.

Col. Ralston last week told the house that an estimate of $27,523,880 required for ammunition and bombs in the current fiscal year compared with $17,237,229 in 1942-43. The figure for armaments was nearly doubled, at $22,070,907 against $10,832,160.

URGENT EQUIPMENT
Howard Green (Prog. Con., Vancouver South), asked why it would not be possible to complete equipment of the reserve army, and if the time was not coming when the reserve would have virtually the same task of defence as the main army.

Col. Ralston gave no details but said a more important role was intended for the reserve and its equipment would be brought to completion as supplies permitted. He said there had been considerable improvement in the provision of supplies for the reserve. Bren gun equipment was not yet up to the establishment of the reserve.

Referring to another question from Mr. Green the minister said he was not in a position to reveal what arms were being provided the Pacific Coast Rangers but that 1,000 water-repairing equipment two men had been authorized in the past fortnight.

Col. Ralston said the reserve army had several functions, particularly local or community defence, and general defence. "It would inspire the people to a realization that the war is not won," said the minister. "We cannot wait until the day of the on our doorstep before getting ready to fight," he added.

CITIZENS OBLIGATED
There was an obligation on the part of citizens to sacrifice some of their time and comfort to prepare for the possible necessity of defending their homes.

"It was not until six months ago that the tide apparently turned," he said.

"Up to that it was a pretty bitter tide and we are not out of the woods yet."

He said there might not be an opportunity and the necessity for the reserve army to function in the defence of Canada.

G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre) said the minister had noted the possibility of the reserve army being used in the defence of Canada. This meant the reserve should be fully equipped. He wondered if there were such an excess of rifles, mortars and machine guns that production could be levelled off.

He wondered if the Boys' Own rifle corps was to be cut off, and Bren and other types' production decreased. If this was planned, it would not be justifiable on the present front.

NO INFORMATION
Col. Ralston said he could not give Mr. Diefenbaker information on whether changes were planned. Mr. Diefenbaker was reported to have said the assurance there will be no reduction in production until the reserve army is fully equipped.

Col. Ralston "I cannot do that. There might be some demand for something more important."

DESERT ARMY CAMP
By C. R. BLACKBURN

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—Desert military camp in Nova Scotia was described in the House of Commons yesterday by Defence Minister Ralston as one of the "most efficient and effective" in Canada.

He was replying to questions from J. G. Diefenbaker (Prog. Con., Lake Centre) who said the choice of a desert camp for the reserve army was "little short of disgraceful." Mr. Diefenbaker had filled the camp "place" in Canada's defence scheme. Col. Ralston said he was disappointed by Mr. Diefenbaker's criticism.

Discussion of the 1,000 acre camp, also miles from Truro, N.S., arose during consideration in committee of the whole of the $26,000,000 war appropriation for the current fiscal year.

Need Said Urgent Nations Urged to Extend Food Resources to Combat Widespread Malnutrition

By J. F. SANDERSON
HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 1.—(CP)—Malnutrition is widespread throughout the world, a section of the United Nations food conference reported here yesterday, recommending that each country take immediate steps to increase the food resources and improve the diets of its peoples.

There was an earlier discussion of an item of food for construction and repair of buildings in the United Nations conference, $20,000,000 for capital expenditures.

NECESSITY PROVEN

Pattil and Urges R.C. Oil Work in Peace River

VICTORIA, June 1.—(CP)—The British Columbia government should start at once a drilling program in the oil fields of the Peace River block, former Premier T. G. Pattil said yesterday.

"These unutilized areas should be reserved and developed for the benefit of the people of a whole and development should proceed forthwith, not only as a war measure but as a permanent asset," he said in a statement issued here.

PROMISING STRUCTURE
The statement said that the Dominion and the oil companies have not decided to proceed under the regulations which had been formulated.

"It is increasingly necessary to have a permanent government and his government that they revise their policy and start drilling at once. That the government with as little delay as possible, there has been a year's delay."

"If the prospects were good enough to make it worthwhile, we are good enough for B.C. to tackle. These unutilized areas should be reserved and developed for the benefit of the people as a whole and development should proceed forthwith, not only as a war measure, but as a permanent asset."

"I am certain that the members of the legislature would very much like to see the government ahead without waiting for the next sitting of the legislature."

Ralston Explains
Status of Aliens
OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons last night that a number of alien internees being given training in Canadian universities were refugees from Nazi persecution who had been living in England for some time before the war.

He said that the government had determined that all enemy alien birth after the invasion of the Low Countries in May, 1940.

It had been decided that these students might as well be coming to their education as to hiding behind bars.

With one exception these students would be given the same case as the one case it was purely military and had no relation to any subversive effort.

The topic of aliens came up while the house in committee was discussing the war appropriation for the current fiscal year.

Col. Ralston said 100 of these young aliens had been selected as candidates for universities, their records having been first carefully searched and found satisfactory.

A responsible sponsor capable of insuring that these students would not be given any charges and guaranteeing cost and maintenance had acted in the case of each student.

There were refugee students in 13 universities, including Toronto, Kingston and the University of Guelph. The group were described as the most brilliant the school ever had.

7,500,000 Bushels
Of Wheat Sold U.S.
OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—The United States Commodity Credit Corporation has announced that it is planning a post-war economic system in which the United Nations, and those associated with them, will collaborate in increasing production, facilitating equitable distribution all over the world and preventing those maladjustments which, after the war, had to be corrected by restrictive policies, such as plowing under crops, burning coffee and killing young livestock.

Two reports were presented, one suggesting that a marked expansion in agricultural production might be required if the peoples of the world are to be provided with adequate supplies of food, and the second suggesting that expanded production would not be adequate unless there was food of food and that adequate arrangements must be made for distributing surplus.

PROGRESS SUBSTANTIAL
Nearing its windup, the conference has made substantial progress in planning a post-war economic system in which the United Nations, and those associated with them, will collaborate in increasing production, facilitating equitable distribution all over the world and preventing those maladjustments which, after the war, had to be corrected by restrictive policies, such as plowing under crops, burning coffee and killing young livestock.

Ontario Reduces Liquor Allowance
TORONTO, June 1.—(CP)—The monthly liquor ration in Ontario was reduced by 25 ounces for June, 1943, said the Liquor Board chairman A. St. Clair Gordon announced yesterday. Effective June 1 the maximum monthly quantity will be 30 ounces, instead of the 50 ounces set in May. An increase in the sale of liquor permits, and a desire for more equalized distribution of the spirits, led to the decision.

There were no reports of the Saskatchewan but in any event they would shortly be amalgamated with Regina would be added to the barracks were being constructed.

The minister said he had no report of shortage in the Regina barracks but the matter was still under investigation. He said he was at adequacy of fire protection.

Coupon Values
The coupon values for the month of June 1943 are as follows: 100 coupons = 1 lb. of flour; 50 coupons = 1 lb. of sugar; 25 coupons = 1 lb. of rice; 10 coupons = 1 lb. of corn meal; 5 coupons = 1 lb. of oatmeal; 2 coupons = 1 lb. of barley; 1 coupon = 1 lb. of wheat.

The sum of $8,741,198 was bet on the National Lottery week-end. New York, Hawthorne was hit, and the Commodore Credit Corporation has decided to make its purchase in the open market. Export permits are not required for wheat of this grade, the minister said.
